IN BRIEF

This lovely stone and brick built house dates back to 1850 and has been restored keeping all of its charm and character. It is currently divided down the middle into two self-contained units making it perfect for a family home and gîte or perhaps two rental units. Both parts can be accessed from a pretty private courtyard. They could equally very easily be reunited to make one 5 bedroom house. Situated on the Route of the Compostelle and a famous cycle route, the gîte is popular with both hikers and cyclists.

The 277m² of living space includes 5 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms, 2 kitchens, and 3 salons, all with exposed beams and large windows. In addition, an annex of 33m² offers more business opportunities or the possibility of adding a studio.

The large peaceful courtyard/garden area is partially laid...
