The ski resort of Sainte Foy Tarentaise is nestled among the trees and a firm favourite for having a vast variation of pistes, off piste and ski touring routes.

With its North-West exposure the snow quality in Sainte Foy is exceptional.

Set between 1550m to 2620m, offering 800 hectares of forest and high altitude areas with 26 pistes of varying difficulty. The resort is perfect for beginners, intermediates, expert skiers and a real haven for free riders too with access to sensational off piste. Accompanied by a professional guide, enjoy skiing through virgin snow on the well-known routes such as Le Monal or the north face of Fogliettaz (nearly 2000 m of descent).

Sainte Foy also has lots to offer in the Summer from hiking through the forests...
