DESCRIPTION

This house was, originally, 2 separate houses which have now become one.

On the ground floor the main open-plan kitchen and dining area has access to the paved verandah, with a beautiful Wisteria pergola. This kitchen area leads through a door, into a back kitchen/utility room (32m²) with large Limoux stone sink. The main entrance door, into this room, has an entry vestibule, very useful for hanging outside coats and scarves and leaving outside shoes. There is also a guest toilet in the vestibule area. The room has a staircase, giving access to the first floor.

To the other side of the main kitchen and dining area, is a library/music room with a second staircase, going up to the first floor. This room leads into a large, sunny salon with open fireplace, overlooking the garden and pool area.

Upstairs are 3 bedrooms leading into a large full family bathroom with built-in cupboards. This bathroom has a walk-through passage going to the other 3 bedrooms and a second full family bathroom. The principle bedroom has double aspect windows and extensive built-in cupboards.

The house windows are double-glazed with the exception of the pretty, original traditional ones, which remain. The oil radiators are heated by an oil-fuel furnace system. The fuel tank is stored in the large open garage, big enough for parking 2 cars and for storage. Above the garage is a room of equal size...
