NOTES

DESCRIPTION

On the ground floor, the entrance hall leads to the fully renovated kitchen, which has 2 doors, one of which opens onto the double living room. Who has retained its art deco charm, with large windows overlooking the meadows (over 2 hectares) and the Vayre river that surrounds the property. 1 bedroom, currently used as storage space for the permaculture business. 1 wc.

Upstairs: 3 spacious bedrooms, 1 large bathroom with walk-in shower and bath, 1 wc.

The attic: accessible via the central staircase, provides storage space and can be converted if required.

The basement: houses the boiler, the oil tank and other storage areas.

The mill: a magnificent building that was in operation until the mid-20th century. Most of its equipment is still in place. The wheel is just waiting to be put back into service so that it can once again dance beneath the 6-metre-high waterfall. A huge concrete hangar can easily be converted into stables since water and electricity are on site and a large enclosed garage protects vehicles and tractors.

The vegetable garden: Remarkably well thought-out and created, is equipped with polytunnel for protection and sheltered working if needed.

This property also has a wooded plot in a small neighbouring hamlet, perfect for mushroom lovers, which will also provide the kindling needed to start the wood-burning stove in the living room and the barbecue.
