IN BRIEF

This exceptional property is located in the beautiful Occitanie region, in Castelnau de Montmirail in the heart of the famous Golden Triangle. This village is a Tarn bastide, a magnificent medieval town that proudly dominates the Tarn valley. This incredible 270m2 building once belonged to the hunting reserve of the Count of Toulouse, and dates back to the 1250s. At first glance, there's no mistaking the history on display here. Situated in the historic centre of the village, it reveals itself, its ashlar facades enhanced by a charming garden with pathways, flower beds and landscaping, and even a charming gazebo.

This property is a perfect illustration of the splendour of this highly sought-after corner of Occitanie, in the heart of what is known as the Golden Triangle. A little more detail now.

DESCRIPTION

In the heart of the village, tucked away in a little street, it reveals itself at first glance, giving every indication that we are in the presence of an exceptional property: exposed stone facade, beautiful woodwork, intimate landscaped garden with space here and there to stroll, gazebo, we can't wait to discover this beautiful residence.

We've already marvelled at the breathtaking panoramic view over the entire valley!

Once through the wrought-iron gates, we're in a timeless world! Charmed by the beautiful flower-lined driveways adorned with sculptures, we enter through a custom-made magisterial door! The entrance hall is even bigger than we expected, and sets the tone. With its 30m², it could easily become a living room.

This central room leads to the 19m² kitchen, which is wonderfully luminous thanks to its creamy white and blue tones, and is perfectly equipped! A 21m² library adjoins the kitchen and opens onto the side terrace. Back in the entrance hall, we return to an absolutely incredible room, a 40m² lounge with a masterful fireplace the like of which has rarely been seen! Everything here is magical, from the lighting to the French ceiling. A wooden door that takes us back to days gone by, with a huge key, leads us up a spiral stone staircase to the tower.
