NOTES

DESCRIPTION

This little hidden gem in the charming village of Sault, just a few steps from its shops, offers a peaceful living environment, nestled in a quiet neighborhood away from prying eyes. The park, completely fenced, with a possibility to build a swimming-pool, stands out with its impeccably maintained pathways, adorned with lavender flowers and magnificent blue cedar trees.

The stone house, with its distinctive look thanks to its central tower, is a true haven of peace. It is equipped with solar panels, a water softener, and benefits from an oil and electric heating system. The double glazed windows have mosquito screens, allowing, along with ceiling fans, to leave the windows open to enjoy cool and pleasant summer nights.

At 760 meters above sea level, Sault enjoys hot days accompanied by the song of cicadas and nights of extremely appreciated mildness.

In this lovely medieval village perched on its rock, Sault, despite being distant from cities, offers many artisanal shops, a supermarket, pharmacy, doctor, schools, and a middle school, as well as a bus for public transport to Carpentras. The nearest cities by car are:

Carpentras: 40 minutes

Apt: 40 minutes

Marseille-Provence Airport: I hour 30 minutes Avignon TGV station: I hour 10 minutes

Sault appears to be "protected" by a combination of factors: its altitude, the influence of Mont Ventoux, an isolated plateau, and a drier climate. This doesn't make the village invincible, but it does significantly reduce the frequency and intensity of climate-related disasters compared to lower or more exposed areas.
