IN BRIEF

This superb 17th century Logis was originally a hunting lodge domain. The buildings were subsequently remodelled in the 19th century when the property was transformed into a farmhouse. Inside the main dwelling, you will find spacious rooms with plenty of natural light.

Some of the outbuildings have been converted into gîtes. The property is set in a peaceful, leafy setting in the heart of the Marais Poitevin, 25 minutes from La Rochelle and close to the beaches of the Ile de Ré and Sud Vendée.

Taugon and the surrounding area are renowned for their tranquillity and are ideally located if you want to live close to the coast and La Rochelle, while enjoying the peace and quiet of the countryside and the peaceful surroundings of the Marais Poitevin.

NOTES

DESCRIPTION

The ground floor of the Logis comprises a fitted kitchen, a storeroom with an old wine press, a shower room with toilet, a dining room, a lounge/study and a bedroom with its magnificent original Louis XIV fireplace. The first floor also offers the possibility of two additional large bedrooms.

The first gîte comprises a kitchen, a bright living room, two bedrooms and two bathrooms, totalling around 65m2.

The second gîte is approximately 45m2 and offers a spacious living room with kitchen, bedroom and bathroom with WC. Both gîtes are very pleasant and functional.

The property and its lush parkland surrounded by canals are very pleasant and well maintained. There are many trees, a pond and an orchard, all with the charm of the marshes.

The meadows at the rear of the property can be rented out on a tenant basis, but would also be ideal for equestrian or animal breeding activities.

The property has a beautiful outbuilding with a lean-to, representing approx. 100m2, used as stables and a cowshed in the last century. On the front of this building is an old neo-Romanesque porch... Combining history and curiosity, everyone will be able to imagine what to do next!
