DESCRIPTION

The roof appears to be in excellent condition for the whole property. The main barn has the consumer unit and LINKY box (smart meter), barn walls and a mud floor.

The garage has a concrete floor and has now been divided to create a shower room/utility room (8m²) with lovely Italian style shower, hand basin, chemical WC and plumbing for the washing machine. Note: the septic tank has not been installed and is therefore an urgent requirement. There is an electric hot water tank.

The rest of the garage (32m²) is used like a studio flat with space for a bed, a very basic kitchen and sitting area. Double glazed doors and windows have been installed and the roof has been insulated but not boarded out (hence the intergalactic vibe). There is no heating but it does give you a glamp-able base of operations.
