A private entrance leads to an enclosed courtyard surrounded by numerous buildings in very good general condition, all with recently renovated roofs. A habitable house of approx. 135m² with a convertible attic of more than 200m² will give you the opportunity to live on site whilst renovating other parts :

NOTES

DESCRIPTION

Enormous potential for this group of buildings set around a central courtyard with 2.6 ha of adjoining land, comprising :

A habitable house: Passing through the conservatory (11m²), you arrive in the entrance hall (4m²), which leads to a corridor (6m²) off which is a kitchen (10m²), a lounge (28m²), two bedrooms (2 x 12m²), a separate WC with wash-hand basin, a bathroom (5m²) with bath and shower (to be modernised) and a room used as a utility room (4m²). A door from the lounge reveals two other rooms to be renovated (concrete floors, no electricity but already fitted with double glazing), the first (22m²) with a glazed door opening onto the courtyard and the second with a window and a fireplace. The wall between the two is not load-bearing, so the two rooms could be connected to make a large lounge or dining room of over 40m².

A second house (forming a letter L with the first) divided into three rooms on the ground floor for renovation, totalling approx. 50 m² with an attic above.

In the corner that joins the two houses, with access from the end of the corridor in the main house, as well as from the outside, a barn with a storeroom/boiler room and stairway giving access to the attic of more than 200 m² and a former wine press (36 m²).

A barn dating from 1789, re-roofed in 2016, offers impressive volumes over two floors. The current owners have had plans drawn...
