Courchevel Village (Courchevel 1550) is a charming and family-friendly destination offering a more relaxed and authentic atmosphere compared to its glitzier counterpart, Courchevel 1850. Despite its quieter vibe, Courchevel Village boasts excellent amenities and convenient access to the entire ski area.

One of its standout features is the high-speed Grangettes ski lift, which connects Courchevel Village to 1850 in just a few minutes. The lift remains open in the evening, allowing visitors to enjoy the upscale restaurants, bars, and vibrant nightlife of 1850 before returning effortlessly to the calm of 1550.

Courchevel Village itself has a delightful selection of restaurants, bars, and shops to cater to both skiers and non-skiers. From cozy mountain eateries serving Savoyard specialties to laid-back bars for après-ski drinks, there's plenty to enjoy after a day on the slopes. Visitors can also find local ski shops, boutiques, and essential services that meet all their needs.

Another major draw is the proximity to Aquamotion, the largest aquatic center in the Alps, located just a short walk or drive from Courchevel Village. Aquamotion features indoor and outdoor
