IN BRIEF

Stone house in need of renovation (168m2).

The roof and roof timbers were renovated a few years ago with a view to refurbishing the building, but the work was stopped.

This old building (the village bakery) comprises a ground floor, a first floor with a floor, a cellar and an outside space (concrete slab) adjoining the house, which was intended as an extension to the house.

The old bread oven is still in the house.

The house is on the edge of the road, which is perfect for a business.

The rear view overlooks the fields and the large plot (second access from the rear).

The house is close to the centre of a lively village.
