NOTES

DESCRIPTION

The House – Comfortable and inviting, the large reception room has a woodburner, traditional built-in cupboards, a corner kitchen, and plenty of space for lounge and dining areas. The double bedroom is spacious, and there is a roomy shower room adjacent, with a separate WC.

The Outbuildings – The main barn is a fantastic example of its time, with double-height barn door and beautiful arched windows. Internally, the barn is divided into different sections, all with their special functions of days gone by – stables, animal enclosures, and attics to store the hay. There is also a little pigsty on the land and separate chicken house.

Outside – Double gates open to the driveway and on into the central courtyard. There are grassed garden areas surrounding the property, a well, walled sections, an ancient orchard and a field.

Just a few minutes drive away, the vibrant village of Sainte-Sévère-sur-Indre has schools, doctors, a dentist, pharmacy, vets, boulangerie, convenience store, post office, hairdressers, bars and a popular restaurant. Further services can be found in the cultural small town of La Châtre, 15 minutes away.

A perfectly-formed countryside retreat in the most tranquil of spots. Please ask for more information and photos.
