IN BRIEF

Located in a quiet hamlet close to the lively village of Saint-Angeau, this beautiful house built in 2001 has some major advantages: a good energy rating, a generous living area, four bedrooms and two bathrooms, and spacious living areas opening onto a magnificent terrace and swimming pool. With no neighbours in sight, this house is both intimate and comfortable (underfloor heating with air/water heat pump, oil-fired condensing boiler, excellent exposure) and practical (carport for two cars, electric roller shutters, walk-in wardrobes and large bay windows overlooking the outside, fitted kitchens).

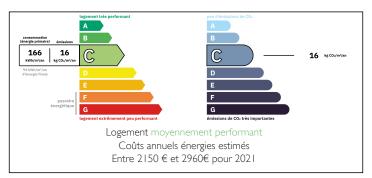

The partially converted basement provides space for entertaining family, friends and guests or for setting up a home-based business.

Set in the Charente countryside, the house is ideally located between Chasseneuil sur Bonnieure and Mansle (12 and 14 km away), and only 30 km from Angouleme and its TGV station...
