NOTES

DESCRIPTION

Currently arranged as two independent apartments, the property offers considerable flexibility for both private family use and rental income. It could equally be reimagined as one elegant family residence, creating a warm and inviting alpine retreat in an exceptional location. This dual configuration is particularly appealing for buyers seeking a property that can adapt to changing lifestyle needs, whether as a multi-generational family home, a second residence with guest accommodation, or an investment with income-generating potential.

Set across four levels, the house offers a Loi Carrez surface area of 100 sqm and a total floor area of 115 sqm (with surface area under 1m80). The accommodation is thoughtfully arranged and includes four bedrooms and a cabin room, three shower rooms, two guest WCs, and two separate living areas with kitchen spaces. The interiors offer an excellent balance of comfort and practicality, while the traditional proportions of the building lend themselves beautifully to future enhancement or redesign, should a purchaser wish to create a single, cohesive and highly individual mountain home.

A balcony with open views provides a charming extension to the living space, offering the perfect place from which to take in the surrounding mountain atmosphere throughout the seasons.

One of the property's standout features is its immediate access to the vast and world-renowned Three Valleys ski domain, the largest linked ski area in the world. From St Martin de Belleville, owners can enjoy swift and seamless access into this exceptional network, with its extensive range...
