DESCRIPTION

A 16th-century building in the heart of Azay-le-Rideau

Located in the historic centre of Azay-le-Rideau, famed for its UNESCO-listed Renaissance château, this 16th-century stone building enjoys a prime location: local shops within 50 metres, SNCF train station (Tours in 25 minutes) a 15-minute walk away, and 200 m from the banks of the river Indre. Corner building, listed as Heritage.

Property composition

The property is held in single ownership, spans three levels, and comprises four independent apartments, an inner courtyard and a vaulted cellar. Approximately 196 m² of living space, with a total ground area of approximately 280 m² including courtyard and cellar.

- Ground floor: apartment of approximately 57 m²
- Garden level (duplex): approximately 44 m² with courtyard access
- First floor: apartment of approximately 57 m²
- Second floor: apartment of approximately 49 m²

Remarkable energy performance for a period building

All apartments achieve EPC ratings C or D, with exceptionally low greenhouse gas emissions (ratings A and B, i.e. 4 to 7 kg CO₂/m²/year). No unit is classified as an energy-inefficient property: no mandatory energy works required, no future restrictions on letting. Interior insulation, double glazing and modern mechanical ventilation ensure lasting comfort. Electric inertia heating and electric water heaters throughout.

Rental situation and yield

All four apartments are currently let, with leases in place and tenants in residence. All tenant insurance
