DESCRIPTION

Not only does the apartment stand out in its own right but the entire building does likewise. From the double entrance with two levels of security, one immediately appreciates the level of upkeep and workmanship. An orderly and spacious utility room houses the meters, waste bins and cleaning facilities. Through locked doors is access down to the individual boxes in the arched cellar.

The four-person lift or the large and easy to use stone staircase lead to the upper two floors.

The second floor is shared by only two apartments with the lift shaft being on the far side from this property.

As you enter through the particularly large front security door the view over the Dordogne to the north banks of the river is enchanting. The spacious entrance hall benefits from floor to ceiling fitted cupboards and leads directly into the generous living room beautified by three high windows with double exposition. The stone chimney and mix of noble wall and floor materials make for a rich and comfortable environment. The practical and bright kitchen is nicely tucked away whilst being only partially separated.

From an L-shaped corridor leading from the entrance hall lie a toilet, to the right, a bedroom overlooking a garden, opposite, a bathroom with shower cubicle, bath, twin basins and a cupboard, followed by a second bedroom and, on the other side of the corridor, the current office/bedroom that leads to the unique and marvelously glazed loggia with direct access to...
