DESCRIPTION

Reputed to have been connected to Loches Château via a network of ancient underground tunnels, this exceptional residence is steeped in history and intrigue. Beautifully presented throughout, it represents a rare opportunity to acquire a property of genuine architectural significance in one of the Loire Valley's most sought-after towns.

The Main House

Approached through imposing wrought-iron gates, the property opens onto an elegant cobbled courtyard that immediately conveys a sense of privacy and grandeur. Two charming pavilions frame the entrance courtyard: one provides garaging, while the other has been fitted with bespoke solid-wood bookcases, creating an ideal library, study, or retreat.

A handsome flight of stone steps rises to the principal entrance, where an exquisite wrought-iron screen set behind glass in the entrance door creates a striking first impression. Beyond, the entrance hall (15 sq m) is flooded with natural light and centered around a magnificent stone staircase with an elegant wrought-iron balustrade ascending to the first floor.

To one side of the hall lies a delightful reading room or snug (13 sq m), complete with an open fireplace and views across the front courtyard. Opposite, the principal salon (57 sq m) enjoys beautiful views over the private gardens. This elegant reception room features an impressive stone fireplace, oak parquet flooring, silk-lined walls and doors finished with delicate gold-leaf detailing.

Double doors lead through to the formal dining room (33 sq m), another beautifully proportioned reception space with an open fireplace, oak parquet flooring, fabric-lined walls and direct access...
