DESCRIPTION

THE PRINCIPAL RESIDENCE

Extending to approximately 565m², the principal house has been designed around generous proportions, abundant natural light and an easy connection with its gardens and terraces.

GROUND FLOOR

The 27m² entrance hall immediately establishes the scale of the property, with a striking open staircase rising through a light-filled central stairwell. A 15m² office/bedroom sits conveniently to one side. Beyond, the superb 65.5m² living room provides an impressive yet comfortable setting for both everyday family life and large-scale entertaining. Distinct sitting areas are gathered around a freestanding wood burner, while a succession of French doors opens the room almost entirely towards the extensive covered poolside terrace.

This is one of the great strengths of the house: despite its considerable size, the principal living spaces never feel disconnected from the outside.

Running alongside is the 56m² kitchen and dining room, centred around a substantial island and complemented by extensive fitted cabinetry and a 5m² walk-in pantry. At the dining end, glazed doors open onto a second covered terrace overlooking the gardens – perfect for long lunches, summer dinners or simply morning coffee outside.

The two terraces offer distinct outdoor living spaces: one focused around the pool, hot tub and entertaining areas, the other opening naturally from the kitchen towards the lawns and gardens.

Also on the ground floor are a utility/laundry area and a generous shower room with WC, thoughtfully positioned close to the pool terrace – a small but particularly practical detail for summer living.
